We take pride in raising test scores!

Early Intervention began operating in 2003. Our company is the oldest and largest provider of non-governmental literacy services in New York. We have a talented team of dedicated educators to help meet the needs of our students and schools. Using the Common Core State Teaching Standards to determine instructional goals, our teachers bring robust resource-room services into schools and offer before-, during-, and after-school instruction as well as push-in, and pull-out programs in public, private, and charter schools.

Our program raises the passing rate of schools and increases enrollment.

Who Qualifies:

Students who score below grade level on diagnostic tests in Reading and Mathematics or who are in jeopardy of academic retention may qualify for an Individual Education Plan (IEP) and so, our assistance.

Group Sizes:

We limit groups to 1-5 students at similar academic levels.

Frequency and Duration:

We follow the student's IEP mandate with regard to frequency and duration; many of our students receive our help during each school day. Our teachers instruct in classrooms, individually and in small groups.

The State Education Department certifies all of our staff—at a minimum—in Reading or Special Education and performs FBI fingerprint background checks on all of our teachers, before they begin working with us.

Examinations:

We offer test preparation including practice with standardized state tests. Whenever practical, we proctor students who require additional test-time.

English Language Arts:

Our teachers utilize a variety of materials to instruct and to test that learning has taken place. Reading instruction concentrates on decoding and comprehension. Writing instruction improves spelling, grammar, organization, and writing style. We encourage the use of books, dictionaries and computers to foster academic independence and a genuine lifelong love of learning, which is our ultimate goal.

Mathematics:

We tailor Mathematics' instruction to meet the needs of each individual.

Science and Social Studies:

We furnish background information that supports testing in science, geography, and history.
